Get to Know.

Logan Pope

PRODUCTION ASSISTANT ON STAFF

Logan is from Indianapolis, Indiana. When he was 14, Logan realized that although he knew how to speak and act as a Christian, he never really believed it. That night at youth group, he made the decision to follow Jesus and truly live for Christ. Logan joined the East Cooper staff in 2023. He enjoys learning about history and playing the guitar.

Global Impact Projects

By giving to Global Impact, you are helping bring the Word of Life to many unreached peoples across the globe.

THAILAND

Thai Christians remain around 1% of the population, even after 400 years of missionary work. We desire to see strong, healthy churches in Thailand, and that's why we are financing the publication and translation of theologically sound books. This year we have funded four books.

IRAN

"Disenchanted Iranians are turning to other faiths," reads one of the headlines in The Economist. Many of these Iranians are turning to Christ. Our partner, Mo, is an Iranian-born missionary, and he is producing TV programming, books, and podcasts in Farsi to strengthen the Persian church. We recently funded three of his projects.

MOROCCO

How do you share the gospel with Muslims who live in remote, mountainous villages in North Africa? Our partners begin by handing out backpacks filled with school supplies so that their children can attend school. We provide funds for this project and will send a team to help distribute the backpacks in September 2024.

AFGHANISTAN

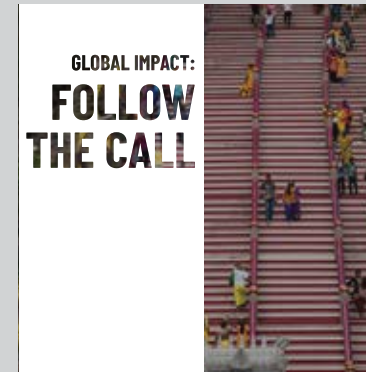

The Taliban now control Afghanistan, but, surprisingly, they have let us restart leadership development seminars. While the leadership topics are common to secular courses, they are taught from a biblical worldview. We are thankful to be able to fund these seminars once again.
